Escape Artist and LeMans Karting Announce their New Escape Room
Two Greenville businesses collaborate at popular indoor karting track

Greenville, SC: Today, Escape Artist Greenville and LeMans Karting announce the opening of a unique new escape attraction within LeMans Karting - Greenville; Cotton Owens...The Legend Returns. The new experience, located at LeMans Karting, will be a 45 minute adventure in which you and your fellow pit crew members are trying to retrieve Upstate NASCAR legend Cotton Owens' lucky helmet before his big race starts. This is the third escape room by Escape Artist Greenville and the first collaboration between Escape Artist and LeMans Karting.

Escape Artist Greenville owner Kim Rutherford says, "It has been so great to work with another local company and get to know Rick Gaan and his family at LeMans. It has opened so many more opportunities we didn't think possible. We have also felt honored to learn more about Cotton Owens and the history of NASCAR in the Upstate. We are excited about this room and cannot wait to get our existing and new fans through the doors."

"Kim and I are excited to be the nation's first in offering the thrill of European-style indoor karting with a top-tier escape room experience – all in one convenient venue", said Rick Gaan, owner of LeMans Karting. "This combination will be especially attractive to corporate groups looking for the ultimate team-building experience, as well as providing the flexibility for their staff to do one activity or both", continued Gaan.

"Our family believes this escape room attraction at LeMans Karting Greenville is a great way of honoring the memory and legacy of my grandfather. We are pleased that Rick and Kim have done such a great job on this project and especially proud that the public at large can share in Cotton's legacy and contributions to the Upstate's racing heritage," says Cotton's grandson Ryan Owens.

The adventure begins in the year 1970 and you and your fellow pit crew members discover that you have made a huge mistake. You have forgotten Cotton's lucky helmet for the big race that begins in 45 minutes. To retrieve his helmet you must navigate through all the tests and challenges that Cotton has put in place to ensure that only a member of his team can do so!
